Journal of Social Science Author Guidelines

- 1. Cover Letter: Manuscript should include a cover letter and complete contact information for the corresponding author (institutional affiliation, postal/mail address, e-mail address, and telephone/mobile), who will be responsible for communicating with other authors about revisions and final approval of the proof. Corresponding author is also requested to check whether all authors have agreed to submit the article.
- 2. Article structure: Each submitted manuscript should be prepared within the following framework.

15.07.25

- i. Abstract: The maximum length for the abstract is 200 words. Suggested contents: (1) background and/or problem statements, (2) purpose(s)/ aims or objectives, (3) method(s), (4) summary of key findings, and (5) contribution(s) and implication(s). The abstract is often presented separately from the article, so it must be able to stand alone.
 - ii. Keywords and JEL Classification: Present 3–5 Keywords and appropriate 3-5 JEL classification codes immediately after the abstract.
 - iii. Introduction: The introduction should clearly justify the rationale of the study with appropriate theoretical and empirical backgrounds. This section should include the reference of existing literature, credible information and data, and any theoretical support for describing why the current study is a worthy literary work. The introduction should briefly present critical findings, contributions, and structure of the rest of the paper. If a separate literature review section is required then, it can be placed immediately after the introduction to developing the hypothesis.
 - iv. Data and Methodology: This section should explain the data source (if any) and the empirical methodologies used in the manuscript. Proper reference should be maintained if the paper is produced by following any published methods.
 - v. Results and Discussion: The result section should present the appropriate empirical results and make extensive discussions on the overall and critical findings. Relevant literature should be cited to reinforce the findings of the study.
 - vi. Conclusion and Policy Implications: The Journal holds that every single article published must contain some specific policy implications for policy planners of the appropriate regions or countries under study. If the paper is theoretical, the idea of such paper is even more valuable. The conclusion should clearly state the significant findings of the article without much repetition.
